MARDI HIMAL BASE CAMP TREK

Overview

Mardi Himal trek is a newly discovered trail and a hidden gem for the Annapurna region. It is situated below the Machhapuchhre mountain. The breathtaking view of mountains on this trek is the best alternative way to avoid the crowd of classical Annapurna base camp. It still captures the panorama of the Annapurna ranges. Mardi peak trek exhibits the wondrous hidden landmarks and gets more iconic when you trek further off the beaten path. The Mardi Peak stands at an altitude of 5,587m sharing its province with Mt. Machhapuchhre, Annapurna south, Glacier Dome, Lamjung Himal, Mt. Manaslu and multiple other 7000m+ Himalaya Ranges.

The Mardi Peak trek is the perfect amalgamation of trekking experiences including remote villages, wildlife, stunning mountain vistas and diverse landscapes from lowland subtropical forest to high alpine. Here, the great thing is riveting Himalayan cultures blend perfectly with landscapes. It is a very short trek but rather filled with all adventures and surprises. The magnificent view of Mardi Himal, Annapurna South, Mount Machhapuchhre and Mount Hiunchuli adds a perk to this trek.

The route in Mardi consists of short ascents and descents every day. The facilities and accommodation in Mardi Himal trail are basic and meet only essential needs. Unlike other commercial trekking routes in Nepal. Mardi peak trekking is regarded as one of the best short treks in Nepal although it lacks services and amenities. It is a hidden gem thus very few trekkers make their way to Mardi Himal Base Camp every year. We can also say that the number of trekkers going through this trek is increasing slowly.

Mardi Peak lies just below the towering Mt. Machhapuchhre. This trail to Mardi Himal leads to several hours of wandering inside a rhododendron forest that looks unbelievably magnificent in March and April. The trekking route is pretty quiet in comparison to other routes in the Annapurna region. Anyone with a moderate fitness level can go trekking in Mardi Peak regardless of their age and size.

Itinerary

Day 1: Drive to Kande/ Pothana Trek to Rest Camp.

The trip starts from Pokhara, here are two options to start this trek. You can either drive up to Kande and start uphill trekking from Kande to Pothana. The path climbs up to 3/4 hours through forests with trailing winds.

We can also drive up to Pothana directly. The path reaches up to 2,125m which takes about 2 hours to drive from Pokhara. The lodge settlement clearing in the forest is the 'Pothana camp'. This place is situated in a scenic forest.

Following the ridge, the trail climbs slowly through the rhododendron trees. We usually have to walk early in the morning for perfect timing and breathtaking views. It takes about 5-6 hours to reach the rest camp from Pothana for a person with a very mediocre level of fitness.

Destination: Rest Camp

Altitude Gain: 2600

Duration: 6

Accommodation: Lodge

Day 2: Trek to High Camp.

Higher up the mountain, the trail climbs to Mardi Himal and Mt. Fishtail. The low camp has some tea houses in the forest clearing. It seems much closer to the view of Mt. Fishtail and Mardi Himal. We get opened to the clear blue sky with a glimpse of the Himalayan foothill layers and the sweeping south valley.

Following the trail comes the Badal Danda which is heavenly. You can experience clouds and a real cool breeze refreshing your mind for a tiring trek. After we leave the trek line from Badal Danda and arrive in the shrubby alpine forest. Annapurna South, Hiunchuli and Fishtail snow-capped peaks appear on either side in a distance above the deep valley. It takes about 3 hours from the low camp to reach the High camp, after the climb. High camp is a small pasture with some lodges.

Destination: High Camp

Altitude Gain: 3500

Duration: 5

Accommodation: Lodge

Day 3: Discover Mardi Himal Base Camp and trek-down to Low Camp.

With steep climbs and longer walks, the day trip is more challenging than the other days. Here we go through rough and steep rocky steps at some stages, the trail becomes more vertiginous. The steep climb to the top of the ridge, marked as the Upper viewpoint, will take about 2 hours. However, the actual base camp takes another 2 hours of the trek along the mountain. While Mardi Himal and Mt Fishtail appear just above us. Also, the views of Annapurna, Gangapurna and Annapurna III appear at distance as well.

Destination: Low Camp

Altitude Gain: 4200

Duration: 6

Accommodation: Lodge

Day 4: Back to Pokhara via Kalimati village trek.

Down to the basin of the Mardi River and return to Pokhara. You'll have to reach up to Kalimati Village which is the beautiful downhill trail for the trek, or we can stay the night at the village which is worthy too. After that, it will take about one and a half hours to get to Pokhara via vehicle.

Destination: Pokhara

Altitude Gain: 800

Duration: 5

Accommodation: Hotel
